Demetrios the Myrrh-streamer & Great Martyr of Thessaloniki

October 26

Reading

Saint Demetrius was a Thessalonian, a most pious son of pious and noble parents, and a teacher of the Faith of Christ. When Maximian first came to Thessalonica in 290, he raised the Saint to the rank of Duke of Thessaly. But when it was discovered that the Saint was a Christian, he was arrested and kept bound in a bath-house. While the games were under way in the city, Maximian was a spectator there. A certain friend of his, a barbarian who was a notable wrestler, Lyaeus by name, waxing haughty because of the height and strength of his body, boasted in the stadium and challenged the citizens to a contest with him. All that fought with him were defeated. Seeing this, a certain youth named Nestor, aquaintance of Demetrius', came to the Saint in the bath-house and asked his blessing to fight Lyaeus single-handed. Receiving this blessing and sealing himself with the sign of the precious Cross, he presented himself in the stadium, and said, "O God of Demetrius, help me!" and straightway he engaged Lyaeus in combat and smote him with a mortal blow to the heart, leaving the former boaster lifeless upon the earth. Maximian was sorely grieved over this, and when he learned who was the cause of this defeat, he commanded straightway and Demetrius was pierced with lances while he was yet in the bath-house, As for Nestor, Maximian commanded that he be slain with his own sword.

From the desk of Fr. Nick...

My Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

THIS IS THE DAY THAT THE LORD HAS MADE! LET US REJOICE AND BE GLAD IN IT!

The last season of the harvest is here! (For all of you farmers out there, you already know this.)

For those of you who aren't farmers, the last season of the harvest is the last time of the year that our crops will be able to be gathered and stored for the winter. So whatever food we expect to eat during the winter, it all needs to be harvested and there needs to be enough of it to live on – not just for the winter months, but also for the beginning of the harvest the next year.

This is why these seasons are always marked by the church through blessings. We bless homes and lands that produce the foods that we live on. We bless the businesses that provide us the opportunity to thrive, not just survive, during the times that we cannot provide for ourselves.

In agriculture, there is an aspect of faith to everything that is done. This is probably why Jesus spoke so many of His parables with the theme of agriculture: The Parable of the Sower, The Wheat and the Tares, The Mustard Seed, The Laborers in the Vineyard, etc.

(On one of the Sundays in October, we will hear the Gospel of the Parable of the Sower. If you are in church when it is read and come up to me after church and remind me, I will have a small little gift for you that Sunday ☺.

In all of these Parables, there is a good aspect to aspire to, and a bad aspect to be avoided. The way that Jesus speaks these Parables, we cannot simply focus on acquiring the good. We must also have a bit of our attention on recognizing the bad.

Why is it important to watch the bad? Shouldn't we only be focused on the good? Christ asks us to watch out for evil, because evil sometimes can creep into our lives without us being aware of it. How many times are we gardening, and we can't tell the difference between a young weed and the young sprouts from the good seed that we planted? All we see are little green buds coming up. The more we focus on them, the more we can tell the good buds from the bad ones. And the younger we recognize the weeds, the easier they are to remove. Not only that, but the younger we get the weeds, the less likely they are to take over and kill the good seed.

But that brings us back to the main purpose of Christ's parables: Aspiring to do good. We must recognize what is good and seek that in our lives. Even though we need a good eye to recognize the bad, we can always tell when the bad comes because we have a keen eye on the good.

In art circles, there are many artists who try to forge major works of art and sell them as originals. There are those who are trained to spot the forgers. What is the most interesting to note is how they are trained to spot forgers. We would assume that they would be trained by studying the forgers' techniques, right? But in reality the training is done by spending the most amount of time studying the original. They stare at it. They learn the coloring, the brushstrokes, the lighting, the angles and even the texture of the original. This way, when they spend the most amount of time with the original, they can definitely know when they have something that is not the original.

So, we must study the good seed, Beloved, the one that will bear good fruit in our lives. We must see what it looks like while it's young and understand how to differentiate it from the weeds that come in at the same time. Then we must have enough courage and skill to remove it from the soil of our hearts, without pulling any of the good with it. God provides the growth of the good seed in our lives. Let us grow strong in Him! God bless you all!

TSOUREKI BREAD SALE

Message From DEACON MICHAEL

My brothers and sisters in Christ,

The purpose of the Holy Church, where the New People of God are gathered, is to be redeemed and sanctified by the Lord Jesus This is a present and eternal reality for the Church. The Church is consecrated by Him for witness about Him in the world and before the world. Christ is the Savior of the world. And the salvation of the world is already accomplished in His incarnation with His sacrifice on the Cross, death, resurrection and glorification. In Him God became man and man is deified. Sin and death are conquered, life is made manifest and triumphant.

And thus, first of all, the Church is His life. Christ Himself, living in the people who have accepted Him and who in Him have unity with God and with each other. In Christ everything is "done" and no one needs to add anything to His work. In this new life there is no difference between strong or weak, slave and free, male and female, but is a New Creation. God gives the Spirit without measure, all are consecrated by Him, all are called to fullness and perfection, to life abundant. Christian faith begins with the encounter with Christ, with the reception of Him as the Son of God, who manifests the Father and His love to us. This acceptance of the Son, this union in Him with the Father, is fulfilled as salvation, as the New Life, As the Kingdom of God.

Deacon Michael

OCTOBER 2024

AUTUMN is the season when the duration of daylight becomes noticeably shorter and the temperature cools considerably. Day length decreases and night length increases as the season progresses until the winter solstice in December (Northern Hemisphere) and June (Southern Hemisphere). One of its main features in temperate climates is the striking change in color for the leaves of trees as they prepare to shed.
