POLYCARP THE HOLY MARTYR & BISHOP OF SMYRNA

February 23

Reading

This apostolic and prophetic man, and model of faith and truth, was a disciple of John the Evangelist, successor of Bucolus (Feb. 6), and teacher of Irenaeus (Aug. 23). He was an old man and full of days when the fifth persecution was raised against the Christians under Marcus Aurelius. When his pursuers, sent by the ruler, found Polycarp, he commanded that they be given something to eat and drink, then asked them to give him an hour to pray; he stood and prayed, full of grace, for two hours, so that his captors repented that they had come against so venerable a man. He was brought by the Proconsul of Smyrna into the stadium and was commanded, "Swear by the fortune of Caesar; repent, and say, 'Away with the atheists.'" By atheists, the Proconsul meant the Christians. But Polycarp, gazing at the heathen in the stadium, waved his hand towards them and said, "Away with the atheists." When the Proconsul urged him to blaspheme against Christ, he said: "I have been serving Christ for eighty-six years, and He has wronged me in nothing; how can I blaspheme my King Who has saved me?" But the tyrant became enraged at these words and commanded that he be cast into the fire, and thus he gloriously expired about the year 163. As Eusebius says, "Polycarp everywhere taught what he had also learned from the Apostles, which also the Church has handed down; and this alone is true" (Eccl. Hist., Book IV, ch. 14,15).

From the desk of Fr. Nick...

My Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

This is the day that the Lord has made! Let us rejoice and be glad in it!

"Brother, have you been saved?" This was the question I used to be asked while waiting at the bus stop in downtown Pittsburgh on my way home from daily classes at the University of Pittsburgh. There was a guy on the street corner, and he was there – preaching. He was there every day, at the same time, and he was not easy to ignore.

"Brother, have you been saved?" I was so unprepared for this question to be asked directly to me. I mean, I wasn't the only the person at that bus stop. Why was I picked? I just didn't know how to answer this question. I mean, I knew that Jesus had saved me, but how did I participate in this? At the end of this, I just ignored him and just got on the bus.

I went home and talked to my priest and asked him how to respond to this, and he told me that I was saved by Jesus Christ on the cross. But he also told me that this man was asking me when I joined Jesus Christ in the life that He has provided for us through the cross. But I had never really "joined" Jesus Christ, or so I thought. He reminded me that I joined Jesus Christ on the day of my baptism.

Alright… I was prepared. I couldn't wait to go back to the bus stop and answer that question. I went back, and I even got there early. And there he was. "Brother, have you been saved?"

Ha! There it was… I couldn't wait. "Yes! I have been saved!" I felt so good saying that, and it even felt better to know what it meant. I thought to myself, "Good, maybe he will recognize me the next time and not ask me anymore." But, he wasn't done, and I was definitely not prepared for his next question.

"What date were you saved?" he asked. I froze. I knew that the right answer was on the day of my baptism. But I had no clue when that was. I mean, I was a baby. I didn't remember that. I had seen a few pictures a couple times, but I really didn't remember much about that day, except who the priest was that baptized me and who my godparents were.

So, back to the drawing board. "I'll have to get back to you," I said to him. I went back to my priest and found out my baptismal date.

Then I started wondering. If this guy can tell me exactly when he started to follow the life in Christ, we should always be able to answer that question. How many of us actually know the date that we were baptized? How many of us mark that date as special for us? Is there a special saint celebrated on that day? Do we remember that saint in our prayers, and ask them to intercede for us?

I returned to the bus stop… fully armed with my answers. "Have you been saved?"… "Yes, I have been saved!"… "When were you saved?" "February 23, 1975."… He stopped and looked at me. "How old are you?" He was shocked that I started to follow Christ at such a young age. I explained infant baptism and then my bus came.

Beloved, Godparent/Godchild Sunday is Sunday, March 2 this year. We get to renew our baptismal vows. Let's make an effort to remember how and when we began our lives in Christ. And let us always make the choice to follow Him for the rest of our lives! God bless you all!

Message From DEACON MICHAEL

Brothers and Sisters in Christ, A prayer is a conversation with God. In order to be able to pray, we must be within the situation which is defined as the Kingdom of God. We must recognize that He is God that He is King, We must surrender to Him. We must at least be concerned with His will, even if we are not capable of fulfilling it.

What I have in mind is something which is used specifically by Orthodox Christians. It is what we call the "Jesus Prayer" a prayer which is centered on the name of Jesus, "Lord Jesus Christ, have mercy on me a sinner". It is the profession of faith, is a summing up of the Whole Gospel. We profess the Lordship of Christ, His sovereign right upon us, the fact that He is our Lord and our God, which is the name of Jesus in which we confess the reality of the Incarnation and all that the incarnation stands up for. The perfect profession of faith of what He is, the Son of God. This is not only a profession of faith in Jesus Christ, but also is opening up the Trinitarian way because He is the Son of the Father and no one can recognize in the Prophet of Galilee the Incarnation Son Of God unless the Holy Spirit teaches him to see, to understand and to commit himself. So here we have the fourth profession of faith, and profess in spirit. And then, "have mercy on us". "Have mercy" is the English rendering of the Word Kyrie Eleison, you are using Greek words which mean, "Lord Have Mercy". It is in prayer that the soul attains to the supreme likeness with God. For in true prayer it is united with God and cleansed from any thought. Holiness comes from God. God wants the whole world to be filled with Saints. He wants the whole world to be sanctified so that His Holiness may be seen and glorified everywhere in the world and the world becomes a new heaven and a new earth where justice, that is fidelity, openness, holiness abides because it has been extended into this world from the Holy Trinity.

Deacon Michael

CATERING

HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY to our Holy Trinity Family!

Our hearts are warm, but our fingers & toes are FREEZING!

So, with that in mind, here is a tip on how to calibrate your food thermometer…

Put your thermometer in a glass of ice water. If it's not 32° F, use the cover of the thermometer (it has a wrench) to turn it to 32°F.

VOILA!!! Now it's as cold as your feet & toes!

Catering By George!

Stay warm!

From Our Parish Council President

Ringing in 2025 and a Renewed Parish Council

On January 12 the 2025 Parish Council was sworn in by Fr. Nick. We bid fond farewell to George Karnavas, Gus Semertsidis, and Kelly Antoniades and we thank them for their outstanding service. We welcome Peter Pergins who rejoins the Board. The slate for 2025:

President	Dan Speece
Vice President	Denise Bellas
Treasurer	Diana Pittman
Assistant Treasurer	Lisa Georgiades
Secretary	Debbie Memmer
Assistant Secretary	Kathy Koufos

Eliana (Antoniades) Monnot	Nick Aslanides
Elaine Kontogianes	Chris Macrides
Peter Pergins	Julie Sandru
Roula Stern

I continue to be impressed by the dedication and devotion by the Parish Council members and by our parishioners throughout the year, and I am deeply appreciative. Not just for what is accomplished in the Church, but by your dedication in everyday life: raising your children, caring for aging parents, visiting shut-ins and the ill; volunteering for other organizations and Churches, and supporting the many events, both sad and joyous here at Holy Trinity. I am reminded and remain inspired by one of my favorite quotes from George Bernard Shaw – perhaps these words reflect your world-view as well:

> "This is the true joy in life, the being used for a purpose recognized by yourself as a mighty one; the being thoroughly worn out before you are thrown into the scrap heap; the being a force of Nature instead of a feverish selfish little clod of ailments and grievances complaining that the world will not devote itself to making you happy. I am of the opinion that my life belongs to the community, and as long as I live, it is my privilege to do for it whatever I can. I want to be thoroughly used up when I die, for the harder I work, the more I live. Life is no 'brief candle' to me. It is sort of a splendid torch which I have got to hold for a moment, and I want to make it burn as brightly as possible before handing it on to the future generations."

It is our honor to serve you, the parishioners of Holy Trinity as we seek to fulfill our personal aspirations and goals in the coming year and work together on this gift of Orthodox Christianity. We salute all stewards who are working toward their spiritual goals and who contribute their time, talent and treasure in many different capacities in fulfilling the mission of the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church. We look to continue our progress in the coming year and thank you for your support.

Why Join The Parish Council?

A Personal Perspective by Dan Speece

We have two open spots on the Parish Council following our recent elections, and while I am a "quality over quantity" sort of person, more viewpoints can only enhance our collective wisdom and decision-making. In some ways, Holy Trinity is at a crossroad – can we remain a viable Church in the face of when our bills seem to outpace our revenue, and when we seem to be losing more parishioners than we are gaining. And are we doing all we can to fulfill our obligations to God and to prepare for our own judgement day? And, we can use your help for more mundane work including maintenance, stewardship, outreach, and even hauling garbage (my plug).

When I speak with potential candidates about joining, the most common objection I hear is that serving takes "a lot of time." And that is true – it does take time, as much as you can spare. And the work, seemingly unending. Due to demands of family, work, and other interests, some are lucky to make it to the monthly meeting and serve one Sunday on Pangari duty. Others devote dozens of hours each month in service. The point is that we all have differing levels of availability, and that is fine. Quality over quantity.

The basic requirements are deceptively simple: as a Church leader, you are expected to set a good example: attend Liturgy regularly, have an abiding interest and passion to make things better, epitomize Orthodox Christianity, be willing to speak your opinion (I have noticed that is a not an issue here at Holy Trinity), and be in good standing.

As for me, I abandoned organized religion over 50 years ago, disillusioned with the hypocrisy, back-biting, and cliques that I witnessed in my protestant church. Even a few of the military chaplains I had served with had suspect motivations. Then, about six years ago while living in Maryland I reconnected with my childhood friend Julie Sandru via a high school class reunion, and who invited me to attend Divine Liturgy. Orthodox Christianity was an important part of her life, and I was eager and curious to learn. At Holy Trinity I was always made to feel welcomed and began friendships that I hope will endure. And for the second time that year, I fell in love. The sights, sounds, scent, music, and doctrine resonated with me, and I promptly took action to formally join the Church. A void in my life has been filled. Shortly thereafter I was invited to join the Parish Council: for me, a life of service is a life well-lived. I know many of you feel the same. I felt the need to give back.

I hope you all know how special and rare Holy Trinity is – how much like a family you all have made it. It is indeed my spiritual home, and for that I thank Father Nick and all of you. As a Parish Council team member, you are a lead steward, someone who sets a good example, and who represents Christ. We live in perilous times, and our Church faces serious challenges. We need people who want to make a difference. I am happy to talk to you via my cell phone 240-483-6930, or email at djspeece@aol.com to set up a meeting (no obligation or hard-sell!)
