Sunday of the Holy Cross

March 23

Reading

With the help of God, we have almost reached the middle of the course of the Fast, where our strength has been worn down through abstinence, and the full difficulty of the labour set before us becomes apparent. Therefore our holy Mother, the Church of Christ, now brings to our help the all-holy Cross, the joy of the world, the strength of the faithful, the staff of the just, and the hope of sinners, so that by venerating it reverently, we might receive strength and grace to complete the divine struggle of the Fast.

Apolytikion of Sun. of the Holy Cross

First Tone

Lord, save Your people and bless Your inheritance, granting our rulers to prevail over adversaries, and protecting Your commonwealth by Your Cross.

Kontakion of Sun. of the Holy Cross

Grave Tone

Now the flaming sword no longer guards the gates of Paradise; * it has been mysteriously quenched by the wood of the Cross! * The sting of death and the victory of hell have been vanquished; * for You, O my Savior, * did come and cry to those in hell: * "Enter again into Paradise."

From the desk of Fr. Nick...

My Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

THIS IS THE DAY THAT THE LORD HAS MADE! LET US REJOICE AND BE GLAD IN IT!

"In this world, nothing is certain except for death and taxes." This quote, attributed to Benjamin Franklin, has been quoted and quoted throughout my lifetime, and I am certain most people have heard the quote before – mostly from friends or family.

The taxes are certain, for sure, and there are many who would scoff at our previous and current government's guidelines on what is taxed or how much is taxed. Furthermore, there are plenty of people who would make sure that we always speak out about what our "tax dollars" are being used for. Nevertheless, we are going to focus on the other part of the saying… The death part.

Among the greatest fears that a human can face is the thought of their own death. It is interesting that we fear something that is certain in life. I mean, according to the saying, the other certainty is taxes and we don't fear taxes nearly as much as death.

"But, Fr. Nick," people have said when I bring up why we fear death, "death is so certain. So final. And there is nothing we can do to stop it." So many people feel the same way. And I am not saying that it is wrong to feel this way. I am simply asking the question, "When we start to feel this way, what do you think God and the church want us to do about it?"

Listen, the reason we fear death (and taxes for that matter) is because death is uncertain and uncontrollable. We don't know the time of our death, nor do we know the circumstances surrounding how we will die. And anything that is uncertain is feared. (I heard a comedian say once "I knew when I was going to die, because my birth certificate had an expiration date on it." .)

But God would not have us live in fear, Beloved. He came and endured our greatest fear, and He showed us the way through it. Most importantly, He showed us not just how to die, but He also showed us that our earthly death is not FINAL. What an amazing God we have, Who knows so intimately what we are afraid of and then He comes and shows us that there is nothing to fear!

This is the main point of Great Lent. Wait, Great Lent is about death? Yes. It is not about the bigger ideas of death, focusing on the end of our lives (although those themes are very much there). It is about the mini-deaths that we all must take before the bigger one: Death to food, death to money, death to our Godless schedules, death to our self-will, death to sin, death to pride, etc.

We pray every Divine Liturgy for a "Christian end to our life." And then we go on to describe what it should be like - "peaceful, without shame and suffering, and for a good defense before the awesome judgment seat of Christ." How can we get there? By ignoring the fact that this day will come for all of us, and avoiding all preparation for this? No. This is not the way. Nor should our death be an obsession that dominates everything that we do.

Great Lent helps us find our balance with the remembrance of death (not over dwelling on it) while still giving us the tools to prepare for it when it does come. Let's make an effort this Lent to embrace the idea of our mini-deaths, through our Lenten sacrifices, and begin our preparation for our good death! God bless you all!

+Fr. Nicholas M. Halkias

Message From DEACON MICHAEL

My brothers and sisters, wondrous is this strange and fallen world. What is the goal of our wondering? To where are we going? For What are we searching? Is there ever a purpose? God would not have made us without a purpose in mind for us. While each person made by God has unique talents, we are bound by one common nature to seek a common goal. All of mankind has been, is and always will be traveling on the same path towards the same goal theosis. Theosis, or the experience that "human beings can have real union with God, and so become like God to such a degree that we participate in the divine nature," is the true act of humanity. It is what we were created to do. Who could ever hope to become more like God if we do not love Him? God Himself is love. To love God is to remain steadfast and faithful to His will. To put His will above our own, in spite of any difficulty and trial or any circumstance. If we truly love God, everything that happens to us will help us grow closer to Him. The Holy Communion is a meeting with Christ, and enter into true life. The faithful are mystically united with the Lord and the faithful are united among themselves through the Holy Eucharist. Through the Holy Eucharist we are transformed into that which we receive. We take Christ into our Spirit and into our flesh and with Him we die, are buried and we are resurrected. Each person finds protection within the love of God. Perfect love establishes the individual in the likeness of Christ which is the supreme perfection, the Holy true Love!

I wish you all a blessed and fruitful Lent!

Yours in Christ, Deacon Michael

CATERING

FIRE FIRE FIRE

Only YOU can prevent kitchen fires!

Please make sure you are aware of where the fire extinguishers are located in the kitchen.

First, there are two kinds of extinguishers. The silver ones are for grease fires. They do work with other types of fires also. One is located by the door to go outside. That is also where the “pull station” is located. This station will alert the fire department. The other silver one is by the door closest to the dishwasher.

There is a red extinguisher by the door next to the coffee urn. Next time you are using the kitchen, make sure you look for the extinguishers!
