Sunday of St. Gregory Palamas

March 08

Reading

This divine Father, who was from Asia Minor, was from childhood reared in the royal court of Constantinople, where he was instructed in both religious and secular wisdom. Later, while still a youth, he left the imperial court and struggled in asceticism on Mount Athos, and in the Skete at Beroea. He spent some time in Thessalonica being treated for an illness that came from his harsh manner of life. He was present in Constantinople at the Council that was convened in 1341 against Barlaam of Calabria, and at the Council of 1347 against Acindynus, who was of like mind with Barlaam; Barlaam and Acindynus claimed that the grace of God is created. At both these Councils, the Saint contended courageously for the true dogmas of the Church of Christ, teaching in particular that divine grace is not created, but is the uncreated energies of God which are poured forth throughout creation: otherwise it would be impossible, if grace were created, for man to have genuine communion with the uncreated God. In 1347 he was appointed Metropolitan of Thessalonica. He tended his flock in an apostolic manner for some twelve years, and wrote many books and treatises on the most exalted doctrines of our Faith; and having lived for a total of sixty-three years, he reposed in the Lord in 1359.

His holy relics are kept in the Cathedral of Thessalonica. A full service was composed for his feast day by the Patriarch Philotheus in 1368, when it was established that his feast be celebrated on this day. Since works without right faith avail nothing, we set Orthodoxy of faith as the foundation of all that we accomplish during the Fast, by celebrating the Triumph of Orthodoxy the Sunday before, and the great defender of the teachings of the holy Fathers today.

From the desk of Fr. Nick...

My Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

THIS IS THE DAY THAT THE LORD HAS MADE! LET US REJOICE AND BE GLAD IN IT!

The solemnity of Lent has descended onto our lives and souls. The Lenten purple is everywhere. The churches are darker. The prostrations are deeper. The concentration is harder. The services are longer. The devotion is stronger. Everything is more deliberate.

This is all according to the script. When you open up the playbook for Great Lent (I know, Super Bowl hangover still), it says "Do everything better and with more emphasis than before." Prayer, Fasting and Doing Charitable Deeds (Almsgiving)… These are normal to the Christian life anyway, but during Great Lent, our attention to these Christ-centered and necessary actions is more focused.

It seems almost like we are in mourning as we begin Great Lent. I'm not a gloom and doom guy, but when the church gets darker and more deliberately focused on preparing ourselves for death, even I have to be kind of a little bit more subdued as I try to point myself towards the more important aspects of life.

Yet, as we get going into this more solemn time, the Church gives us a fun little breather in the middle of Great Lent to celebrate. March 25 is this celebration. And no, it is not merely the celebration of the liberation of Greece. As significant as that event was for my ancestors in Greece, and it was vitally significant, there is something even more crucial to our lives that we celebrate on March 25.

We celebrate the Annunciation of the Theotokos. The celebration is the announcement of the Archangel Gabriel to the Virgin Mary, telling her that she would become the Birth-giver of God, Who would take flesh from her. This feast is so big in the Orthodox Church that not only do we get to do a full Divine Liturgy on this day (as opposed to a Presanctified Liturgy, that would normally accompany a Lenten weekday), but we also get a reprieve from fasting so strictly on this day. We don't blow off the fast completely, but we do get to partake of fish on this day.

Now why does the Church do this for the Feast of the Annunciation? What is so great about it? I mean, it just sounds like Archangel Gabriel is just telling the Virgin Mary how things are going to go by the will of God. So, if it is just this announcement of God's will and God always gets His way, what's the big deal?

Well, the big deal is two-fold. First, it is big to the Jews, because the Messiah that they had been waiting for is finally coming to them as promised. This will fulfill all of the Scriptures foretold by the Prophets. Furthermore, the news is also that it is the Son of God Who will be inside the womb of the Virgin. So, God will take on flesh and live and breathe among us. This news is absolutely the biggest news that has even been shared with humanity.

The second reason that this is a big deal is because God has gifted us with freewill. So, although He was announcing and explaining what was definitely going to happen, according to His will, He was also showing that He was waiting for our freewill to participate in it. We see this in the fact that the Archangel Gabriel announced the message from God, but the angel did not leave until Mary said, "Behold, the handmaiden of the Lord, be it done to me according to your word." (Luke 1:38) Only after hearing her say that did the angel depart.

So, the feast of the Annunciation is the starting point of God's plan for the salvation of the world. That is a pretty big deal. God's plan didn't end until Jesus said, "It is finished" (John 19:30) on the cross. And in some ways, God's plan for us still isn't finished, because the second coming hasn't happened yet. But, we break from Lent and celebrate this amazing feast as a prelude of all the events that were put into motion from the conception of Jesus Christ within the womb of the Virgin Mary. And we celebrate that conception on this blessed feast! God bless you all!

Message From DEACON MICHAEL ...

As we prepare to begin the Great Fast, here are a few important points to remember. First, God is Love, a kind and compassionate Father to us. We must never forget that because love is the reason for all spiritual effort. "God does not love us because we are good, but because He is. Our Lenten effort should help us realize more fully and more often this great Love and closeness to us not just during Lent, but every day after it.

Secondly, our invitation to increased fasting, prayer and work of generosity is not a punishment for our sins. It means to help to discover and transform all obstacles within our minds and hearts to the free flow of God's energy in us and through us. When we are unable to love it is often because the heart is blocked by something. We must learn what that is and with loving awareness bring light and healing to those dark places. Fasting is not beneficial if it is not accompanied by deeper spiritual practices. Think of the list St. Paul gives us in Galatians known as the "Fruit of the Spirit": Love, joy, peace, forbearance, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. This way we will find a new way of thinking and a new way of life that we will carry with us always.
